- Water features, due to cost constraints, have been built at half the original scale.
- The personalized steel beam that will go in the rooftop bar is in place now, though it is wrapped in plastic for protection.
- The original city hall, also later a firehouse, is around 50 years old!
- The Eagle Theatre has a modular removable stage, scene workshops, shipping and receiving docks, grand staircases, concessions, and more
- The E-Center sports a generous storage/entertainment infrastructure by/around backstage
- Taylor Anderson's company has a space in the E-center
- The ground floor opening of the E-Center leads into an upcoming pizzeria
- The Eagle Theatre's Marquee will be arriving/installed in May or Early June
- The Alton-Tucker extension will T West Broad instead of crossing Level Creek and West Broad.
- City Management are more concerned currently with filling the system with tenants in order to remake the cost of the building, while Council Members are pushing for the theater and gym to finish quick because to citizens aesthetics are more important.
- There will be a bridge connecting city hall deck and e-center, and an adjacent staircase leading down to the bowl

Special Guest Aly Lopez

- The Historical Preservation Society has infrastructure the council can take advantage of in our plans for Georgia Cities Week, including

At 7:05, Kaan motioned to table all remaining matters and Laura Ann seconded the motion.
