Construction Watch: City Hall

Work on the new City Hall is progressing rapidly now that the building is basically enclosed. Workers are focused on the interior duct work, electrical wiring and plumbing. The roof is being insulated prior to the installation of the final copper roof. The exterior “stone” cornice is being hung and glued at the top of the structure. From the rear the staircase leading to the lawn is apparent along with the arches over the sitting deck. The streetscape is almost complete from Hwy 20 to Church St. Access for drivers coming from the west has been opened to Church St and then on to Level Creek Rd. West Broad St in front of the construction zone is now completely closed.
